ABSTRACT

5

The present invention relates to a type of fastener for securing computer case side covers which no longer uses screws or bolts to secure the computer case side covers but attaches these side covers through clamp fasteners onto the computer case.